

STEVEN BREAU & THE WHISKEY DANIELS BAND

Coming out of Brazoria County, Steven Breau and The Whiskey Daniels Band combine the sound of Traditional and Texas Country. Formed in 2016, in the small town of Danbury, TX, the band has started to forge its own path with a traditional country style and a Texas Country edge.

Leading the band on vocals and rhythm guitar, Steven Breau, brings the styles of some of the greats in traditional country. Some of his influences are George Strait, George Jones, Merle Haggard, Waylon Jennings, and many other traditional singers.

The Heartbeat of the band, Tim Gore, brings a style of playing the drums that is not only exciting to watch, but he keeps you wanting to stay on the dance floor.

On Lead Guitar, Jeff Brown, brings his rockin' style to the group, playing in bands that hammered the 80's rock era, he gives the music an edge that is rockin' yet Traditional at the same time.

Todd Bacchi, joining the band on Bass Guitar, also coming from an 80's style rock band, brings the same rockin' edge of bass runs and fills that keeps the music Traditional yet with a Texas Kick.

These guys together form Steven Breau and The Whiskey Daniels Band and bring their traditional country style with a Texas edge to the bars and dancehalls around Texas. The Band also writes music with the first, "When Will I Be Back", released in September of 2017. You can listen to them on the Texas Country Radio Circuit.